

Irish History Round Table

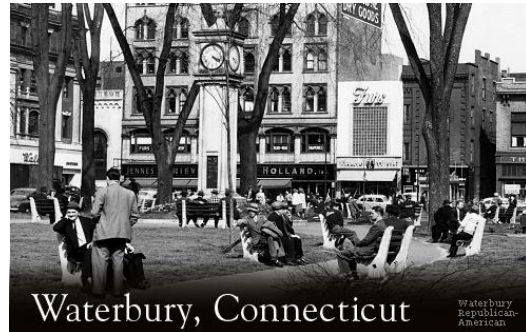

FOUNDED MARCH 1971 WWW.IRISHHISTORYROUNDTABLE.ORG June 2015

The Irish of Waterbury: From Emerald Isle to Brass City

For our June 16th meeting of the IHRT, we have a double pleasure of celebrating Bloomsday and welcoming an author, Janet Maher, who has just finished a newly to be published book about the Waterbury Irish.

After Janet's talk, we'll have refreshments in a James Joyce style.

Join us at 7:30pm at the Knights of ST. Patrick hall, New Haven.

Janet Maher is an Asst. Professor of Art at Loyola U. A native of CT, she has lived and worked as an artist in New Mexico. Her works have been exhibited in many public and private collections. Interest in her family roots brought her to artwork pertaining to that subject and the writing of books about local Irish populations here in CT. We will hear about her upcoming book of the same title as her lecture, with many images from the book presented in a Power Point.

UPCOMING EVENTS

- June 27/28--Irish Feis at the North Haven Fair Grounds
- June 30—Irish Book Club

Remember: July/August is summer recess for the IHRT lecture series. See you in September! Suggestions for future speakers are always welcomed!